

Central Virginia Battlefields Trust Responds With Extra History In Your Inbox

March 25, 2020

Feeling a little lonely at the moment due to “social distancing”? We get it. Civil War Round Table meetings and other great history events have been cancelled or postponed and getting out to a museum or battlefield might not be the best thing at the moment.

But there's always a choice and a solution.

CVBT wants to make a difference and brighten YOUR day and week, so we're launching a new outreach program called "At Ease."

If you choose to join this completely free and interactive, online "club," you'll get a weekly email from us on Thursdays with a one-question survey about a historical topic, the results and fun facts related to the previous week's survey discussion, and a short video with some history, battlefield views, or other surprises.

We want to do our part to bring a smile to your face and some interactive history to your inbox each week!

Want to join the encampment and play some games to pass the time? Just click the line below to ensure you'll receive the weekly "At Ease" emails.

<https://bit.ly/cvbt-at-ease>

